PEACHES WITHOUT DOWN.

Remarkable Results of a Maryland Horticulturist's Experimenting.

Mr. William P. Winter, a retired carpenter, who lives at No. 826 North Carey street, has entered heart and soul into the wizard business with remarkable results. In a cozy little back yard of Mr. Winter's home grows a peach tree that has produced annual crops of luscious fruit for a number of years. Two years ago Mr. Winter grew weary of the conventional covering of the peaches in his limited orchard, and determined at least to produce a peach minus that objectionable nap or down.

He began a series of experiments, and that year produced a peach clothed in the ordinary raiment of the banana; but, not satisfied with the result of his startling assault on nature, he has succeeded in producing a crop, which is just now ripe, that looks for all the world like a tree full of apples. The skin of the fruit is perfectly smooth and of a dark red hue, shading gradually into a yellow that Mr. Winter claims is a remnant of the banana skin. "Next year," said he, "I will have an orange skin on them."

The method employed by Mr. Winter to produce these startling results is a profound secret, and he is preparing to copyright the scheme. Grapevines, as well as peach trees, tremble before the skill of the ex-carpenter, and among the curious things that thrive in the rear of 826 North Carey street is a vine of this sort that bears, at this time ripe grapes as sweet as honey and usually large, half-ripe grapes, blossoms and buds, which Mr. Winter expects to ripen by Christmas.—Baltimore American.

THE AMEER OF AFGHANISTAN.

An Autocratic Ruler Who Is Governed by the Will of His People.

The ameer of Afghanistan, who was at first suspected of complicity with the Indian border troubles, but whose innocence is now well established, is one of the most autocratic monarchs in the world. Not the czar of Russia nor the sultan of Turkey is more absolute in authority, says the New York Tribune. Yet he is, or makes himself, curiously subject to the will of the people in some respects. A few years ago he greatly desired to visit England and other European countries, and the British government was anxious that he should do so, but he did not venture to do so without the consent of his people. So he took a plebiscite on the subject. He sent a proclamation to every village in his empire, telling what he wanted to do, and explaining the advantages that would accrue to him and to the empire from such a tour, and asking the people to take a vote on the subject and let him know the result. So the subject was submitted to universal suffrage. After a few weeks the returns were all in and were counted, and it was found that a considerable majority of the people were opposed to his leaving the country. He was disappointed, but acquiesced in the will of the people, and stayed at home, sending his second son to England in his place.

From Sea to Sea by Crossing Only Thirty Miles of Land.

Alaska is a most difficult country for traveling, even in the only available short season of its arctic summer, there being no roads, and even Indian trails on account of the small number of natives, are very rare, says Outing. The surface is rough, being traversed by many ranges of mountains. Even in the more level portions travel is hindered in the summer by the wet moss which grows knee deep, and by the insect pests; in the winter it is made impossible by the intense cold. In view of all these difficulties, the peculiar relation of the Yukon river to the coast is such that one might fancy nature had arranged it especially for a highway through this inaccessible interior. In partial compensation to man for the obstacles she has put in his way, the headquarters of the network of streams that ultimately drain into the Yukon river fortunately lie within 30 miles of the sea, just on the northern or inland side of a range of mountains which runs along the southern coast of Alaska. From this point the river flows north away from the sea, far toward the Arctic ocean, then, suddenly changing its mind, turns west, and finally, after traversing the whole width of Alaska, arrives at the Behring sea, its entire course being considerably over 2,000 miles. For a considerable distance it is a broad and deep stream, so that one may go quite through the center of Alaska, from sea to sea, by crossing only 30 miles or so of land.

CAUSED BY VEGETABLE GERMS.

A French Physician Says Rural People Suffer Most from Cancer.

A medical student, before he can begin active service in France, must write a treatise on some medical subject which will be approved by the government experts, says the Kansas City Journal. Dr. Noel, who recently obtained his diploma, wrote a treatise on cancer, which has attracted the attention of scientists. According to his opinion cancer is due to vegetable germs, which infect the human system, either through manual contact or through absorption or inhalation of the poison with water or food. According to statistics cancer prevails more in districts surrounded by forests and along the banks of rivers than in places where vegetation is scarce. Dr. Noel began a careful investigation around his home at Lyons. Birch, elm and willow trees predominated. He tested the sap from thousands of these trees and in a score of specimens found cancerous germs. A dog, inoculated with these, in a few days showed every symptom of cancer. Dr. Noel states that the percentage of deaths from cancer is much greater among persons whose business it is to handle wood and vegetation than those employed in trades where wood is not used.

Good habits, healthful exercise, and proper medication are the three great conservators of health. Good health is the greatest beautifier. Neither a man nor a woman can have an attractive personality who suffers from ill-health. If it were not for disorders of the digestive organs, nine-tenths of the medical books in the world could be safely destroyed. Not only the humor maladies, but the majority of serious diseases have their inception in a disordered digestion. Consumption is undoubtedly the most deadly enemy with which mankind has to contend. Like all other wasting diseases, it has its origin in disorders of the digestive organs. As a result of these disorders, the appetite falls off, the life-giving elements of the food are not properly assimilated, the blood becomes thin and impure, and all the tissues of the body are imperfectly and improperly nourished; the lungs become clogged with inert, half-digested tissues that offer an attractive soil for the invasion of the germs of consumption. It has been said thousands of times that consumption is incurable. It is not.

Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects all disorders of the digestive organs, invigorates the liver and makes the appetite keen and the assimilation perfect, it makes new blood, pure blood, and lots of it. It builds new healthy tissue. It is the great flesh-builder. It acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its merits. All good druggists keep it.

Geo. H. Slater, Esq., of Yates City, Knox Co., Ill., writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for the last two years. I got a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it did me so much good I am going to get another bottle. It is the best medicine in the world for stomach trouble."

Good health is the best endowment. Those who have it cannot be too careful to preserve it. Constipation is the worst enemy of good health. It causes nearly every disorder known to physicians. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, swift, safe and permanent cure for constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and one a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Druggists sell them.

VIRTUAL DEFEAT OF HANNA.

The returns from Ohio indicate that the Republicans may have a majority of one or two in the Legislature on joint ballot. This is by no means conceded by the Democrats, but they fear, as Mr. Hanna is an adept in doctoring returns, that his men may be counted in some of the Republican counties. A change of seventeen votes in three counties will determine the complexion of the Legislature. The disposition of these votes will give the gold men a majority of two or the silver men a majority of one on joint ballot. The silver men have the Senate and the gold men may have the Assembly. The official returns, unless tampered with in the interest of Hanna by the county officers, who are Republicans, will doubtless defeat Hanna.

But what a rebuke the Ohio election is to the Great Boodler! In a State which gave McKinley a large majority for President, and Bushnell, at the preceding election, an overwhelming majority for Governor, Mr. Hanna has to rely on ballot box stuffing to secure a majority of one or two in the Legislature to elect him United States Senator. With every corporation and monopoly, every trust and money lender in the State, on his side and abundance of money at his disposal to buy those who make a merchantable commodity of the franchise, he has to rely on the rascality of the election officers to overcome the will of the people.

The Ohio election, whether it results in the retirement of Mr. Hanna to private life or not, must be construed as a protest by the honest voters against Mr. Hanna and his methods. The unpurchasable and independent citizens of Ohio have declared that they do not want Presidential elections determined by the weight of the sack instead of the votes of freemen.

DESIGNS THE GOLD CAMPS.

Henry Watterson announces in an editorial in the Louisville Courier Journal that he has quit fighting for the Gold Democrats, owing to the decisive silver victory in Kentucky and elsewhere last Tuesday. He says the issue was clear and explicit. No effort was spared on the part of the gold men to achieve a victory and nobody could by any possibility be mistaken about it. While he regrets the verdict he accepts it and will battle no more for the gold standard. Watterson used his ability and the influence of his paper to defeat W. J. Bryan for President and now he offers his service as a private soldier in the great army of the Bryanites.

CAPTAIN-GENERAL BLANCO is about to issue his proclamation to the Spanish army in Cuba. He will ask the troops to maintain discipline, respect property and urge that the utmost energy be displayed against the enemy during battle until the victory is achieved. The soldiers are then cautioned when victory is assured to act with the greatest clemency towards the vanquished, care for the wounded and assist them until delivered to the military authorities as prisoners. Families needing aid must be looked after, and unarmed persons who offer no resistance are to be taken to the nearest village and provided for.

General Blanco seems confident that he can quell the insurrection, hence is inclined to be as lenient as seems to him proper as far as the enemy is concerned. This is praiseworthy in the General, but he may find a larger contract on his hands than he anticipates and may be aggravated into a second Weyer through his disappointment.

CHANCEY M. DEFEW, the great after dinner, or full-stomach orator, is despondent. He views with alarm the great fall off in the Republican vote of New York, with heavy losses in Ohio, New Jersey and other States and says the Republican party is confronted with the incontrovertible proof that Bryan and bimetalism are not dead. It warns them that they must take steps at once, and emphatically, to settle the currency question beyond any hope of reopening it. The great man, who receives $50,000 a year from the Vanderbilts, would doubtless have Congress pass a bill fixing the gold standard upon the country irrevocably.

SECRETARY BLISS, who has just returned from New York, where he was making speeches for Tracey, has issued orders relating to the removal of employees in the classified service. These orders are in accord with the President's declaration against the removal of persons in the civil service without due charges having been made, and a full and impartial hearing given the accused. The President is determined to enforce the civil service regulations especially since he heard the late election returns, which gave the gold men to understand that they do not own the country.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY has informed the British Government, through Secretary Sherman, that the reopening of arbitration negotiations would be favorably received at Washington, and the British Government has intimated its willingness to meet this Government half way. The recent arbitration treaty was rejected by the Senate, as all such treaties should be unless they recognize the Monroe doctrine.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The President yesterday appointed Eugene Hark as Postmaster at Virginia City, Montana, and Henry P. Kraus as Postmaster at Reno, Nev.

A joliet special says that the operators at Carbon Hill are planning to import Chinese laborers to take the places of the striking miners. It is reported that 500 will be employed.

The yellow fever in the South is abating and business has an upward tendency. The quarantine having been raised in several places where frosts have occurred gives the people confidence and they are resuming their work rapidly.

The Spanish Government as a result of the deliberations of the utterances of General Weyler, has come to the conclusion to try him by court-martial, no matter where he lands. The commanders of all ports in Spain are instructed to demand of Weyler the meaning of his utterances concerning the Spanish Government.

The contest for the control of the Legislature in Ohio is likely to be carried into the courts. Already in some of the very close counties protests have been made to the returns to the Secretary of State. A close estimate of the Legislative membership gives the Republicans 74 votes and the Democrats 71. This is majority of three, but only a constitutional majority of 1 vote, for the election of a United States Senator on joint ballot. The Wood county representatives are yet in doubt as far as the canvass is concerned, and both sides claim them. Should the Democrats gain a representative in that county the complication would be serious. The vote in Wood county is very close and the full returns are anxiously awaited.

WEATHER BULLETIN

(Copyright, 1897, by W. T. Foster.)

St. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 6.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 5th to 9th and 11th to 15th.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about Nov. 16th, cross west of the Rockies country by the close of the 17th, the great central valleys the 18th to 20th, the Eastern States the 21st.

The warm wave will cross the west of the Rockies country about Nov. 16th, great central valleys 18th, Eastern States Nov. 20th. The cool wave will cross the west of the Rockies country about Nov. 19th, great central valleys 21st, eastern States the 23d.

In the Southern States temperature of the week ending 13th will average below and in the Northern States above normal. Not far from Nov. 7th a warm wave will pass through the Northern States followed by a moderate cold wave. The latter will extend into the Southern States.

Resolutions of sympathy.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Young Men's Christian Association of the Nevada State University.

HOW JAPAN COMMEMORATES.

Deeds of Valor in War Kept in Re-

The military revival of Japan, which began with the conquest of China, showed itself in the various ways the great industries of the country celebrated the heroic incidents and victories of the war, says Atlantic. The toy-makers sent out legions of mechanical toys representing the flight of Chinese soldiers, the storming of Port Arthur, and the fight of the Japanese flagship with the enemy's ironclads.

Artists commemorated the nation's triumphs in porcelain, metal work and lacquer ware. Designers portrayed them on the dresses of men, women and children. Tobacco pouches, sleeve buttons, harpins, combs and even chopsticks were covered with representations that expressed the war spirit. Bundles of toothpicks in tiny cases were offered for sale, each toothpick having engraved upon it, in microscopic text, a different poem about the war.

Gallant deeds were dramatized. The fatal courage of a Japanese soldier who scaled a rampart and opened a fortress gate to his comrades; the heroism of 14 troopers who held their own against 300 infantry; the successful charge of unarmored coolies upon a Chinese battalion were reproduced before thousands of spectators. Mr. Meinn mentions one incident whose realistic portrayal must have thrilled the audience—the death of the bugler, Shrakami Genjiro.

At the battle of Song-Hwan this Japanese bugler was ordered to sound the charge. He had sounded it once when a bullet passed through his lungs, throwing him down. His comrades tried to take the bugle away, seeing his wound was fatal. He wrested it from them, lifted it again to his lips, sounded the charge once more with all his strength and fell back dead.

PITY THE POOR SEALS.

All the Female Pupils Are to Be

Branded by Electricity.

One of the suggestions announced for the protection of the seals in northern waters, which appears to be entirely practicable, is that proposed by President Jordan, of the Leland Stanford, Jr., university, of California, who advocates that the government brand all female seals found in our waters, thus destroying the skin for commercial purposes, and, consequently, offering no inducement to the sealer to kill such branded animals.

President Jordan has just returned from the Pribiloff islands with the news that the revenue cutter Rush has inaugurated the scheme. The branding is effected by means of an electrical device, which is both convenient and effective. Dr. Jordan says, in regard to this branding process, that it is perfectly feasible to brand seals, and that the brand will remain permanently, as it does on a horse or cow. One man can brand female seal pups at the rate of 1,000 a day.

The brand will grow with the outer growth of the animal. The outer, or water hair, will hide it to some extent, but the part of the skin on which it appears is permanently spoiled for the furrier's purpose, as, in the course of preparation for market, all the longer or water hair is removed. The adult seals can also be branded without injury, but they are not so easily handled.

It has been asserted that handling the animals will frighten them and drive them off to some other island, but there appears to be no foundation for the statement, as the animals do not mind it any more than sheep mind being sheared.

Reward of Merit.

"Well, I see Herbert Spencer has been rewarded at last."

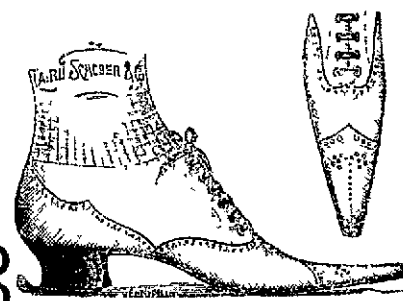

"What's happened? Has he made a fortune out of his books?"

"No, a brand of cigars has been named after him."

S. B. HARRIS, a new brand of cigars, ladies and childrens jackets and capes, ladies and childrens underwear is as complete as most any store can furnish and prices are still the same as before the tariff came into effect.

OUR NEW POSTMASTER.
H. P. Kraus Named as the Successor to Postmaster Berry.
In the course of political or "human events" as the case may be, it frequently becomes necessary to change postmasters as well as other office-holders who devote their best energies, talent and in some instances their lives to the service of their country and the welfare of their fellow-men.
Such being the order of things and the time having arrived, the flash of the telegraph announces the appointment of H. P. Kraus as Postmaster of Reno. The appointment of Mr. Kraus is not a surprise for it has been generally anticipated, but was not expected to occur quite so soon.
While the JOURNAL has a friendly feeling for Mr. Berry and regrets that his official career is drawing to a close, it cannot help congratulate Mr. Kraus on his good fortune. The JOURNAL's relations with Mr. Berry have always been pleasant. He has been a prompt, accommodating and efficient officer and when we say this it is believed that we voice the sentiment of the community generally.
During Mr. Kraus' former term as Postmaster, our experience was the same as it has been with Mr. Berry. Both men have been in times past good officers and there is little doubt but what Mr. Kraus will maintain his reputation in this respect in the future. He is a competent man, having had an extended experience in the department and is familiar with the smallest detail. In all reasonable matters Mr. Kraus is ever ready to accommodate the public and facilitate the delivery of mails, but will confine himself to the regulations of the department as he always did and expects others to act accordingly.
The change will probably not take place before the new year or until Mr. Kraus has received his official appointment, filed his bond, etc., which will take until nearly that time. This date will also commence a new quarter as well as the new year and it gives the retiring officer a chance to close up his business at the end of the quarter and the new Postmaster can begin his duties with a clean page. Of course as to this part of the program the JOURNAL is not informed, but as suggested above, in the course of the political drama it will simply be exit Berry, enter Kraus (Nasby), and the world moves on and doesn't stop a cog.
The Minstrels To-Night.
The Lady Minstrels to-night at the Opera House promises to be a great attraction. A number of popular young ladies of Reno will appear in the minstrel first part appropriately costumed, but the usual lily white of their complexions will on this particular occasion be supplanted by the regulation burnt cork.
A number of jokes, gags and puns, having an extremely local application will be thrown at the audience in true Billy Emerson style. The ballads, choruses and comic songs will be a feature. The first part will conclude with a grand cake walk scene from Blackville, with the committee, prize cake and other accompaniments true to life.
An olio of specialties will follow in which some of Reno's best talent will participate, the whole to conclude with a side-splitting farce.
See the big prize cake at Lake's book store. Go early and secure tickets for there will be a rush.
Solemn Services.
Impressive services over the remains of the late G. C. Steiner, the University student who died so suddenly, were held yesterday in Gymnasium Hall, President Stubbs officiating. At the conclusion of the services, the funeral cortege, headed by the University Cadet Band, and the Cadet Battalion as escort, marched to the Undertaking Parlors of W. Sanders, where the remains were left in charge of a guard of honor until last evening, when they were shipped to Austin for interment. The University Faculty attended the services in a body and there was a large attendance of friends of the deceased.
Knights of Pythias' Anniversary.
Myrtle Lodge No. 24, Knights of Pythias, will celebrate its annual anniversary on Friday evening, December 10, 1897, with a grand masquerade ball. It is proposed to make this one of the greatest social events of the season. A number of prizes will be awarded and all who attend may rest assured of an enjoyable evening.
The Committee of Arrangements is as follows: L. F. Bony, J. E. Soucheau, Geo. E. Seger, John Moutz, A. J. McGrew and C. Looker.
A Good Sale.
Sheriff McInnis yesterday sold the ranch in North Glendale, known as the Old Johnson place, to satisfy a mortgage held by S. A. Jones. Mrs. J. A. Gooding was the purchaser at $3,200, an amount sufficient to pay the mortgage, accrued interest and all costs of sale. This is considered an excellent sale under the pressure of hard times and other drawbacks.
A Centenarian.
Aunt Lucy Evans (colored), a noted centenarian of San Francisco, died Thursday afternoon in that city. She was a slave owned by Thomas Jefferson. She had a remarkable memory and related many incidents accurately that occurred nearly a century ago.
Funeral Notice.
The funeral of the late John Caughlin will take place from the Episcopal Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances of the deceased, also of the family, are respectfully invited to attend.

TRAVELING RAILROAD SCHOOL.
Its Purpose Is to Teach Engineers to Properly Use the Air Brake.
A traveling schoolhouse is one of the curiosities of modern railroading. It is a queer schoolhouse, and it cost $10,000 to build. It is filled with levers, air chambers, cylinders, whistles, gauges, valves, cords and pipes, and at one end is an upright steam boiler and air pump, used in compressing the air with which the apparatus is operated.
No children attend this school. Many of the pupils are grizzled, grimy veterans, who have been railroading for years. Others are younger men, and there is a sprinkling of boys from 10 years old up. They are taught by a regular professor, a graduate of a mechanical college. His pupils have no books. They listen while he talks and watch while he demonstrates the workings of the air brake. His classes are usually held from nine till eleven o'clock in the morning and from seven till nine o'clock at night, so that he can have for pupils the railroad men who have recently come in of their runs.
The air brake is the one subject taught. From 15 to 25 pupils will crowd into the small space on the side of the middle of the room not occupied by apparatus. The professor is usually in his shirt sleeves and bareheaded, for the atmosphere in the room is always from 90 to 110 degrees, made so by the steam boiler. The professor has only one book, and while he is delivering his lectures and talking about the possibilities as well as the troubles of the air brake he keeps this book in the hip pocket of his trousers. After his lecture is over he takes it out, and it is then found to be only a small blank book. In this he writes the names of the members of the class before him. He will then question the pupils, and jots down opposite each name the percentage of correct answers given. Any who fall below a certain mark have to come back to school for another lesson. Sometimes it takes three or four lessons to teach a man the principles of the air brake; sometimes a man will thoroughly understand the intricacies of the system at one lesson.
The apparatus represents a locomotive and a train of 17 cars. Each car is represented by an air cylinder. The professor shows how easy it is by the proper manipulation of the engineer's lever to put all the brakes on at once and to release them all at once. He then shows how unskilled engineers can and often do release one or two brakes at a time, thus affecting the efficiency of the service. He illustrates the emergency application, in which the entire 17 cars have their brakes set in one second by the watch.
"This was what was done by the drunken legislator," he said, "at the famous Tarrytown disaster. Unfortunately the legislator was on the forward section of the train, and when he pulled the emergency rope it stopped the train, and before the brakes could be released the train following it crashed into the rear coach."
The professor does not charge his pupils tuition. He is paid by the road to teach the employees the use and abuse of the air brake. The instruction car, this traveling schoolhouse is called, belongs to the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad and has been in Lexington for the past week, and its schoolmaster, Prof. Huntley, has instructed here full 100 of the road's employees. He travels over the road the year round, stopping at the ends of divisions for a week or more, as becomes necessary.—N. Y. Sun.
Club Meeting.
The Twentieth Century Club held its third regular meeting of the year yesterday afternoon. A well selected program, on the Dutch heroes and custom, of the Dutch people was rendered. Mrs. Dodge was the leader of the day and read a paper on "William, the Silent," which showed research. Mrs. Fowling gave a reading from Washington Irving that was enjoyed by all. A paper, "What the Puritan Character Owes to the Influence of Holland," by Miss Northrop, which combined original thought with historical facts, was exceedingly interesting. Mrs. Layton and daughter, Miss Hattie, added much to the program by several pieces of music.
The next meeting will be held in two weeks from yesterday, and the ladies of Reno are very cordially invited to be present and join the club.
For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children when teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."
Henry Riter's Elite is central and his lunches or tamale trade cannot be equalled in town. Remember he sells tamales at 15 cents each.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.
Neal Dow, the Law Giver.
Among its most honored names, the world has always placed those of its great lawgivers. Every nation has a few great men honored above all others as those who have especially stamped themselves upon its institutions. Neal Dow, the great temperance leader, whose death has made the world poorer, has thus impressed himself for all time upon the laws and institutions of this our own land.
While would-be statesmen panting for deathless fame, have been striving to devise something new in tariff legislation, or have sought for new worlds to conquer among Arctic seas, South American Republics, in tropical Cuba or on the Island of Hawaii, this man with no thought of his own name or fame, set himself to the task of securing in his own state the enactment of an effective law against the haughty and powerful liquor traffic.
How well he succeeded, temperance workers know, though the falsehoods of the liquor power strive to hide the truth from the world at large. Since Neal Dow's first victory, Maine's prohibition forces have met no permanent defeat, and to-day Maine is an incontrovertible proof of the fact that in a great commonwealth, prohibition of the liquor traffic, like prohibition of every other crime, while it does not absolutely prevent the crime, does most effectually and satisfactorily restrain it. Maine, when her first prohibition law was passed, was the poorest state in the Union. To-day, as shown by the amount of money which her people have per capita in Savings Banks, she is the richest.
Neal Dow succeeded in the days before the arts and power of the liquor traffic had been revealed. He undertook to secure prohibition when many so-called temperance people were not even total abstainers, when public opinion was apparently unprepared for it. Now the world at large has accepted as a definition of temperance, "The moderate use of all things helpful, total abstinence from all things harmful." Intoxicating liquors are, of course, classed among "things harmful." This man succeeded in so arousing and educating public sentiment that the law once passed has stood and been enforced, with but one serious defeat. In Maine, the liquor power in 1856 secured the repeal of the prohibitory law, but two years later the people restored it and from that day the law has been changed only to become more effective; and at last prohibition was engrafted into the State Constitution.
Dr. Asa Dalton says:
"It is not true that he believed that men may be made moral and temperate by statute. But he did believe in the reasonable suppression of the rum traffic by legal prohibition. He did believe until the day of his death that the possible and practical enforcement of the Maine law would banish liquor saloons from our streets and drive the infamous traffic into darkness, rob it of its glamour of respectability, its alluring and glaring temptations, and its insidious perils. This was his aim, this he toiled to accomplish, to remove from those weak or diseased men and women, in whom appetite for strong drink held sway, the open, visible and public temptation of the licensed saloon."—Union Signal.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT THE Y. W. C. T. U.
The first society organized under the name of Young Women's Christian Temperance Union was at Ansbay, Ill., in 1876. Two years later the Central Y. W. C. T. U. at Chicago started three in that city. Other organizations followed so rapidly that in 1880 Young Women's Work was made a department of the National Y. W. C. T. U. with a special superintendent to direct its efforts. In 1887 two National Organizers of the Y. W. C. T. U. were appointed, and the same year marked the advent of the National Organ of the Ys, the Oak and Ivy Leaf.
In 1890 Lady Henry Somerset became Superintendent of this Department in Great Britain. Following the work of the round-the-world missionaries Mrs. Leavitt and Miss Ackerman, Y. W. C. T. Unions have been formed in nearly every country.
The work undertaken by the young women depends largely upon the needs of the community in which they live. We will refer to a few departments which have given great profit not only to the young women themselves, but to those whom they have been able to reach and touch; kindergarten and kitchen-garden, rest cottages, social, health and physical culture, scientific temperance instruction, parliamentary usages and Sabbath observance.
